Johnny Cool Darwin has grown since 2009 from a small family owned business to an innovative company operating in the field of electrical and mechanical services in the Northern Territory.

Summary

Johnny Cool Darwin (JCD) is an innovative, service oriented company that has a well earned reputation for excellence in project delivery and customer support. JCD is a proud Territory business employing up to 50 workers and providing services to a range of industrial customers both large and small. Industrial services provided by JCD include electrical and mechanical engineering and maintenance; air conditioning installation and maintenance; HVAC; and solar power installations. JCD has recently expanded its capability to include design, manufacturing and sheet metal work to enhance its integrated supply chain and customer services.

Description

Our team includes qualified electricians, refrigeration mechanics, apprentices, HVAC and Electrical estimators as well as valuable administration staff.

JCD has gained Lower Tier Subcontractor (LTSC) status on the Ichthys LNG Gas Plant at Blaydin Point. We are contracted to several major contractors for electrical and HVAC installation and maintenance works.

As well as the Oil & Gas industry, we are also heavily involved in remote community work. These works consist of subcontracts to builders for electrical and mechanical works on residential housing, medical and hospitality facilities.

We consider no job too big or too small, Johnny Cool have the capabilities to manage periodic maintenance contracts whilst simultaneously undertaking full mechanic refurbishments of commercial structures.
